

Can you tell who was drunk last night?

Sometimes underage drinking has obvious effects. Other times it's easy to ignore. But the best way to keep kids performing at their peak — in the game and in the classroom — is to make sure that they're not drinking. Why? Because underage drinking has negative effects on kids' bodies, minds and potentials.

It's not just a minor problem. It's your problem, too. Supplying a minor can get you a hefty fine, or even time in jail. Even if you'd never let minors drink on your watch, there are other ways to help. Visit dontletminorsdrink.com today and help keep our kids in the game.

Pennsylvania Liquor
Control Board
Alcohol Education.

For more information on alcohol education resources: www.dontletminorsdrink.com